German Syrup is the special prescription of Dr. A. Boschee, a celebrated German Physician, and is acknowledged to be one of the most fortunate discoveries in medicine. It quickly cures Coughs, Colds and all Lung troubles of the severest nature, removing, as it does, the cause of the affection and leaving the parts in a strong and healthy condition. It is not an experimental medicine, but has stood the test of years, giving satisfaction in every case, which its rapidly increasing sale every season confirms. Two billion bottles sold annually. Boschee's German Syrup was introduced in the United States in 1868, and is now sold in every town and village in the civilized world. Three doses will relieve any ordinary cough. The New White Star Line Steamer Greyhound, Launched At Detroit.

The Greyhound, a new steel passenger steamer of the White Star Line, was successfully launched at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the presence of about 1,000 people, including many from Detroit and a party from Toledo.

Among the interesting spectators were General Manager Parker and Traffic Manager Bellman, of the White Star line, who have watched the construction of this boat with considerable pride.

J. W. Conrad, general agent of the White Star line in this city, accompanied by a number of friends and newspaper men from Toledo, witnessed the launching.

Built expressly for the White Star line service between Toledo and Detroit, when completed it will be one of the speediest and most magnificently equipped day boats afloat, and designed for lake and river service will be one of the staunchest and handsomest passenger steamers on the Great Lakes.

The hull of the greyhound was built at the Wyandotte yards of the American Shipbuilding company, in the winter of 1901 and 1902, and is constructed of Selman-Martin mild steel throughout. The steamer is being built under the supervision of the Board of Verities and will carry their "Star Crescent" certificate, proving that she is one of the best passenger steamers afloat.

She measures about 300 feet in length and 68 feet in breadth. The engine is of the walking-beam type, and with the feathering type of side propelling wheels, the jar or tremor common to boats is absolutely done away with. Steam is supplied by three non-explosive boilers. Steam steering gear, as well as all other modern equipments, is used, and the steamer will be lighted by 800 incandescent electric lights, besides a powerful searchlight.

The exterior of the Greyhound's upper works, will be, as usual, of pine, painted white. The interior will be finished in hard oak cabinet work, quarter-sawn oak being used on the main deck, mahogany in the dining room and grand saloon, and chestnut, stained mahogany, in the gentlemen's smoking room on the hurricane deck. She also has a ladies' parlor, or observatory, on the hurricane deck, which will be finished in gold and white. This is an entirely new feature on the Greyhound that is not found on any other passenger steamer. Another particular feature of the Greyhound, especially worthy of note, is the number and size of the windows (all plate glass), which are so numerous and low that passengers can sit in the grand saloon, dining room or any other room or parlor on the steamer and enjoy equally with those outside the unrivalled scenery through which the steamer passes.

The private parlors on the Greyhound are provided with bay windows and are very luxuriously furnished. The social hall, or lobby, of the Greyhound will be covered with an elegant design of inlaid rubber tiling, and the steamer furnished throughout with the best and most handsome designs of carpets and furniture that can be found.

The carrying capacity of the Greyhound, will be 3,000 passengers, which is about double the capacity of any other steamer that has ever run out of Toledo.

GREAT SUBSCRIPTION SALE FOR PADEREWSKI CONCERT.

A nent the coming of Paderewski at Music Hall in Cincinnati on the afternoon of March 13, we would advise our readers to send in their mail orders for tickets, at once, as the demand for seats is far in excess of the demand in 1900. It was in order to give the residents of places away from Cincinnati an equal chance with Cincinnatians, to get good seats, that this subscription sale (by mail only) was opened by the management, and as the sale already indicates that Music Hall will be crowded, with "standing room only" when the doors open, we say don't delay securing your seats by mail at once. Send your orders to Chas. W. Spraul, care of R. Wurlitzer Co., 121 East Fourth street, Cincinnati, O., and they will be given prompt attention.

Not for a long time has there been an attraction played in this city that has given such general satisfaction as that of the play of "For Love's Sake," as presented at the Grand, on Saturday afternoon and night. THE VOICE OF THE SEA.

Thus spake to Man the thousand-throated Sea:
Words which the stealing winds caught from its lips:
Thou thinkest thee and thine God's topmost crown,
But hearken unto me and humbly learn How infinite thine insignificance.
Thou burrow'st through a mountain, here and there, Work'st all thine engines, cutting off a speck;
I wash their rock-foundations under; tear Turret from turret, toppling thundering down,
And crush their mightiest fragments into sand;
Thou gravest with thy records slab and spar,
And callest them memorials of thy Might—
Not a stone exists, from that black cliff To that small pebble at thy foot, but bears My signature graven there when Earth was young,
To teach the mighty wonders of the Deep.
Thy deeds—thine—are what? A morning mist?
But I! I face the ages. Dost not know That as I gave the Earth to spread her fair And dew-washed robe in the morning light,
So, still, 'tis I that keep her fair and fresh?
That weave her robes and nightly diamond them?
I fill her odoriferous bowers with perfumes rare, Strew field and forest with bee-haunted stars;
I give the Morn pearl for her radiant roof,
And Eve lend glory for her rosy dome; I build the purple towers that hold the West
And guard the passage of Retiring Day.
Yon fleecy continents of floating snow, That dwarf the mountains over which they sail,
Are but my bales borne by my messengers,
To cheer and gladden every thirsty land.
The Arab by his palm-girt desert pool,
The Woodlander above his frozen rill, The Woodman couched beside his forest brook,
The shepherd mirrored in his upland spring, Drink of my cup in one great brotherhood.
'Tis I, nay, not man alone—thou art but one Of all the myriads of life-holding things—Brute, beast, bird, reptile, insect thing unnamed,
Whose souls find recreation in my breath; Nay, not a tree, flower, sprig of grass or weed,
But lives through me and hymns my praise to God:
I feed, sustain, refresh and keep them all:
Mirror and type of God that giveth life:
I sing as softly as a mother croons Her drowsy babe to sleep upon her breast.

The Lost Continent

CHAPTER XIV.

SIEGE OF THE SACRED MOUNTAIN.

Now my passage across the great continent of Atlantis, if tedious and haunted by many dangers, need not be recounted in detail here. After some days I passed the black forest and the country from there onward had at one time carried a sturdy population which held its own firmly, and, as its numbers grew, took in more ground, and built more homesteads farther asid. The houses were perched in trees for the most part, as there they were out of reach of cave-bear and cave-tiger and the other more dangerous beasts. But others, and these were the better ones, were built on the ground, of logs so ponderous and so firmly clamped and dove-tailed that the beasts could not pull them down; and once inside a house of this fashion its owners were safe, and could proude at any attackers through the interstices between the logs, and often wound, sometimes make a kill.

But not one in ten of these outlying settlements remained. The houses were silent when I reached them, the fire-hearth before the door weed-grown, and the patch of vegetables taken back by the greedy fingers of the forest into mere scrub and jungle. And farther on, when villages began to appear, strongly walled, as the custom is, to ward off the attacks of beasts, the logs which aforesaid had barred the gateway lay strewn in a sprouting undergrowth, and naught but the kitchen middens remained to prove that once they had sheltered human tenants.
Phoenice's influence seemed to have spread as though it were some horrid blight over the whole face of what was once a smiling and an easy-living land.

At last I found myself within a half-day's journey of the city of Atlantis itself, with the Sacred Mountain and its ring of fires looming high beside it, and the call for caution became trebly accentuated. Everywhere evidences showed that the country had been drained of its fighting men. Everywhere women prayed that the battles might end with the rout of the priests, or the killing of Phoenice, so that the wretched land might have peace and time to lick its wounds.

An army was investing the Sacred Mountain, and its one approach was most narrowly guarded. Even after having journeyed so far, it seemed as if I should have to sit hopelessly down without being able to carry out the orders which had been laid upon me by the high council, and earn the reward which had been promised. Force would be useless here. I should have one good fight—a gorgeous fight—one man against an army, and my usefulness would be ended. No; this was the occasion for guile, and I found cover in the outskirts of a wood, and lay there cudgeling my brain for a plan.

In that covert of the woods I lay a day and a night raging with myself for not discovering some plan to get within the defenses of the Sacred Mountain, but in the morning which followed there came a man towards me running.
"You need not threaten me with your weapons," he cried, "I mean no harm. It seems that you are Deucalion, though I should not have known you myself in those rags and skins, and behind that tangle of hair and beard.
Zaemon laid a command on me. He said to my house. I asked his plea-

ure. It was to find you when you came in here from some distant part of the land and deliver to you his message.

"Then tell me the message," said I.
"You are to make a great blaze. You may fire the grasses of the plain in front of this wood if you choose. And on the night which follows you are to go round to that flank of the Sacred Mountain away from the city where the rocks run down sheer, and there they will lower a rope and haul you up to their hands above."

He took himself off then, and I wasted no more precious time. The grass blazed up for a signal almost before the messenger's heels were clear of it; and that night, when the darkness gave me cover, I took the risk of what beasts might be prowling, and went to the place appointed. There was no rope dangling, but presently one came down the smooth cliff-face like some slender snake. I made a loop, slipped it over a leg, and pulled hard as a signal. Those above began to haul, and so I went back to the Sacred Mountain after an absence of so many toilsome and warring years.
There were none to disturb the ascent.
Phoenice's troops had no thought to guard that gaunt, bare, seamless precipice.

The men who hauled me up were old,
and panted heavily with their task, and, until I knew the reason, I wondered why a knot of younger priests had not been appointed for the duty.
But I put no question. With us of the Priests' clan on the Sacred Mountain it is always taken as granted that when an order is given it is given for the best. Besides, these priests did not offer themselves to question. They took me off at once to Zaemon, and that is what I could have wished.

The old man greeted me with the royal sign. "All hail to Deucalion," he cried, "king of Atlantis, duly called thereto by the high council of the priests."

"Then being king, I can speak without seeming to make use of a threat.
I must have my queen first, or I am not strong enough to give my whole mind to this ruling."

"She shall be brought here."
"So! Then I will be a general now, and see to the defenses of this place, and view the men who are here to stand behind them."

I went out of the dwelling then, Za-emon giving place and following me. It was night still, but there is no darkness on the upper part of the Sacred Mountain. A ring of fires, fed eternally from the earth-breath which wells up from below, burns round one-half of the crest, lighting it always as bright as day, and in fact forming no small part of its fortification. Indeed, it is said that in the early dawn of history men first came to the mountain as a stronghold because of the natural defense which the fires offered.

There is no bridging these flames or smothering them. On either side of their line for a hundred paces the ground glows with heat, and a man would be turned to ash who tried to cross it. Round full one-half of the mountain slopes the fires make a rampart unbreakeable, and on the other side the rocks run down the plain which spreads beyond its foot. But it is on this farther side that there is the only entrance way which gives passage to the crest of the Sacred Mountain from below.
Running diagonally up the steep face of the cliff is a gigantic fissure, which succeeding ages (as man has grown more luxurious) have made more easy to climb.

Looking at the additions, in the ancient days, I can well imagine that none but the most daring could have made the ascent. But one generation has thrown a bridge over a bad gap here, and another has cut the living stone and widened a gap ledge there, ill in these latter years there is a path with cut steps and carved balustrade such as the feeblest or most giddy might traverse with little effort or exertion. But always when these improvers made smooth the obstacles, they were careful to weaken in no possible way the defenses, but rather to add to them.

Eight gates of stone there were cutting the pathway, each commanding a straight, steep piece of the ascent, and overhanging each gate was a gallery secure from arrow shot, yet so contrived that great stones could be hurled through holes in the floor of it, in such a manner that they must irrevocably smash to a pulp any man advancing against it from below. And in caves dug out from the rock on either hand was a great hoard of these stones, so that no enemy through sheer expenditure of troops could hope to storm a gate by exhausting its ammunition.

But though there were eight of these granite gates in the series, we had the whole number to depend on no longer. The lowest gate was held by a garrison of Phoenice's troops, who had built a wall above them to protect their occupation. The gate had been gained by no brilliant feat of arms—it had been won by threats, bribery and promises; or, in other words, it had been given up by the blackest treachery.

And here lay the key-note of the weakness in our defense. The most perfect rampart that brains can invent are useless without men to line them, and it was men we lacked. Of students entering into the colleges of the Sacred Mountain there had been none now for many a year. The younger generation thought little of the older gods. Of the men that had grown up among the sacred groves, and filled offices there, many had become lukewarm in their faith and remained on only through habit, and because an easy living stayed near them there; and these, when the siege began, quickly made their way over to the other side.

Phoenice was no fool to fight against unnecessary strength. Her heralds made proclamation that peace and a good subsistence would be given to those who chose to come out to her willingly; and as an alternative she would kill by torture and mutilation those she caught in the place when she took it by storm, as she most assuredly would do before she had finished with it. And so great was the prestige of her name that quite one-half of those that remained on the mountain took themselves away from the defense.

There was no attempt to hold back these sorry priests, nor was there any punishing them as they went.
Zaemon, indeed, was minded (so he told me with grim meaning himself) to give them some memento of their apostasy to carry away which would not wear out, but the others of the high council made him stay his vengeful hand. And so, when I came to the place, the garrison numbered no more than 80, counting even feeble old dotards who could barely walk; and of men not past their prime I could barely command a score.

Still, seeing the narrowness of the passages which led to each of the gates, up which in no place could more than two men advance together, we were by no means in desperate straits for the defense as yet, and even if my new-given kingdom was so far small, consisting as it did of the Sacred Mountain, and no other part of Atlantis, at any rate there seemed little danger of its being further contracted.

Another of the wise precautions of the men of old stood in good stead then. In the ancient times, when grain was first grown as food, it came to be looked upon as the acme of wealth. Tribute was always paid from the people to their priests, and presently, so the old histories say, it was appointed that this should take the form of grain, as this was a medium both dignified and fitting. And those of the people who had it were not forced to barter their other produce for grain before they could pay this tribute.

On the Sacred Mountain itself vast storehouses were dug in the rock, and here the grain was teemed in great yellow heaps, and each generation of those that were set over it took a pride in adding to the accumulation.

In modern days it had been the custom among the younger and more forward of the priests to scoff at this ancient provision, and to hold that a treasure of gold or weapons or jewels would have more value and no less of dignity; and more than once it had been a close thing lest these innovators should not be outvoted.
But as it was, the old constitution had happily been preserved, and now in these years of trial the clan reaped the benefit. And so with these granaries and a series of great tanks and cisterns which held the rainfall, there was no chance of Phoenice reducing our stronghold by mere close investment, even though she sat down stubbornly before it for a score of years.

But it was the paucity of men for the defense which oppressed me most.
As I took my way about the head of the mountain, inspecting all points, the emptiness of the place smote me like a succession of blows. The groves, once so trim, were now shaggy and unpruned. Wind had whirled the leaves in upon the temple floors, and they lay there unwept. The college of youths held no more than a musty smell to bear witness that men had once been grown there. The homely palaces of the higher priests, at one time so ardently sought after, lay many of them empty, because not even one candidate came forward now to canvass for election.

Evil thoughts surged up within me as I saw these things, that were direct promptings from the nether gods. "There must be something wanting," these tempters whispered, "in a religion from which so many of its priests fled at the first pinch of persecution."

I did what I could to thrust these waverings resolutely behind me; but they refused to be altogether ousted from my brain; and so I made a compromise with myself: First, I would with the help that might be given me, destroy this wanton Phoenice, and regain the kingdom which had been given me to my own proper rule; and afterwards I would call a council of the seven and council of the three, and consider without prejudice if there was any matter in which our ancient ritual could be amended to suit the modern requirements. But this should not be done till Phoenice was dead and I was firmly planted in her room. I would not be a party, even to myself, to any plan which smacked at all of surrender.

And there as I walked through the desolate groves and beside the cold altars, the high gods were pleased to show their approval of my scheme, and to give me opportunity to bind myself to it with a solemn oath and vow. At that moment, from his distant resting place in the east, our Lord the Sun leaped up to begin another day. For long enough, from where I stood below the crest of the mountain, he himself would be invisible. But the great light of his glory spread far into the sky, and against it the Ark of the Mysteries loomed in black outline from the highest crag where it rested, lonely and terrible.

For anyone unauthorized to go nearer than a thousand paces to this storehouse of the highest mysteries meant instant death. On that day when I was initiated as one of the seven I had been permitted to go near and once press my lips against its ample curves; and the rank of my degree gave me the privilege to repeat that salute once on each day when a new year was born. But what lay inside its great interior, and how it was entered, that was hidden from the seven, even as it was from the other priests and the common people in the city below. Only those who had been raised to the sublime elevation of the three had a knowledge of the dreadful powers which were stored within it.

I went down on my knees where I was, and Zaemon knelt beside me, and together we recited the prayers which had been said by the priests from the beginning of time, giving thanks to our great lord that he has come to brighten another day. And then, with my eyes fixed on the black outline of the Ark of Mysteries I vowed that, come what might, I at least would be true servant of the high gods to my life's end, and that my whole strength should be spent in restoring their worship and glory.

"IN THE SWIM."

Different Versions as to the Origin of This Well-Known Phrase—Webster's Definition.

This phrase is, one fears, bad English, in so far as it has acquired a suspicion of vulgarity which, in the first place, perhaps it did not possess, since it is thought to have originated from anglers being in luck when they find a swim or "school" of fish, says Notes and Queries. Thus it has come to mean being in the popular current, either in opinion, speculation, or fashion—dans le mouvement, in the vogue with others. It is possible that the phrase was suggested to anglers by the eastern metaphor: "To swim in golden lard," meaning to be prosperous;
"And, gentle, Sir, when you do come to swim in golden lard" (B. Jonson, 'The Fox,' i.).

Webster gives it as colloquial, and says the meaning is "to be in a favored position; to be associated with others in active affairs." The Imperial dictionary also classes the phrase in the same way, and describes "the swim" as "the current of social or business events; the tide of affairs; the circle of those who know what is going on."
The Dictionary of Phrase and Fable gives the origin as from an angler's phrase, and says: "A lot of fish gathered together is called a swim, and when an angler can pitch his hook in such a place he is said to be "in a good swim."

A QUARRELSOME PEOPLE.

This Seems to Show That Our Ancestors Did Little Else But Fight.

A study of mediæval rural life is apt to give the impression that the principal part of the life of the people was spent in quarreling or in the commission of prosecution of offenses, says a writer in Lippincott's. Our ancestors certainly were a very licentious and a very disorderly people. The records teem with instances of men and women drawing knives against one another, of breaking into houses, of prosecuting one another for slander.
Then we have such entries as these:
"It is ordained by common consent that all the women of the village must refrain their tongues from all slandering." "Thomas, son of Robert Smith, is fined 12 pence, because his wife, Agnes, beat Emma, the wife of Robert, the tailor, and Robert, the tailor, six pence, because his wife Emma swore at Agnes, the wife of Thomas." "It is enjoined upon all the tenants of the village that none of them attack any other in word or deed, with clubs, or arrows, or knives, under penalty of paying 40 shillings." Such entries, frequently occurring, in addition to the innumerable instances of individual attack, slander, petty theft and other immorality, seem to show a community of far from perfect virtue.

Making a Bad Matter Worse.

To those women—presumably few in these advanced days—who find it difficult during certain elections to detect an appreciable difference between the views and promises on either side, we offer the guidance of "Mrs. Green," an imaginary Englishwoman of considerable shrewdness. On one memorable occasion she was approached by a canvasser for the liberals, to whom she gave her reasons for remaining stanch to the conservative party. Said she:
"It's safer on the face of it—an I speaks for Green, as thinks w' me in sech things—for to let 'em stop as 'as made their mistakes an' sees 'em." Here the canvasser attempted to speak, but Mrs. Green raked her hand with a terminative flourish. "You needn't tell me as 'ow you won't make the same mistakes!" said she. "I knows you won't. You'll make new ones, an' probably wuss." Words of greater American significance may be substituted for conservative and liberal without destroying the force of Mrs. Green's piquant reasoning.— Youth's Companion.

Too Appropriate.

An English clergyman had married a young woman with a reputed dowry of about £10,000, while he himself had "great expectations." Needless to say, every soul in the village knew about it.
It was the first Sunday after their return from the honeymoon, and when the sermon was finished the parson proceeded as usual to give out the hymn, verse for verse, to his rustic congregation. All went well until the fifth verse was reached, and the parson began: "Forever let my grateful heart," when suddenly and with some confusion he exclaimed: "Omit the fifth verse" and immediately began to recite about the sixth verse instead.
Those who had hymn books promptly read the fifth verse:
"Forever let my grateful heart
His boundless grace adore, Which gives ten thousand blessings now,
And bids me hope for more."

SCHOOL AND CHURCH.

The Christian missionaries in Japan number 692.
In 1877 there were high schools for 3,626 German pupils in Hungary. Today all these schools have ceased to exist.

A school-teacher in Newark, N. J., received the other day the following letter from the father of a pupil: "Dear Teacher: Please don't teach Johnny any more about his insides. It makes him sassy." It seems that Johnny had become critical concerning the family bill of fare.

An interesting new educational institution has just been opened in New York city—a choir school for the Protestant Episcopal cathedral. The school is exclusively for the education of the cathedral choristers, who in consideration of their singing receive a free general education.

There have been 258 popes from St.
Peter to Leo XIII., inclusive. One of them, Adrian IV. (1154), was an Englishman, Nicholas Breakespeare, who was born a beggar, but lived to crown the German Emperor Barbarossa, and died the most powerful potentate on earth. Six have been Germans. Nearly all the rest have been Italians.

During the early days of the Metropolitan elevated railroad in New York the trains did not run on Sunday. One Sunday morning, ignorant of this fact, a traveler rushed up to the stairway only to find the gates closed. Noticing the letters "M. E. R. R." over the entrance, he said, in disgusted tones: "I might know a Methodist Episcopal railroad wouldn't run on Sundays!"

The presence of a crown prince as a student is almost as effective in increasing the number of undergraduates as a great athletic victory. The attendance at Bonn university is considerably larger than it was last winter. The crown prince of Germany is attending the lectures, and, although he is only one among more than 2,000 students, he is a potential unit and magnet.

ITS WELCOME WORN OUT.

A Christmas Present That Was not Display Until Its Donor Had Made Her Call.

Some one had said that there are three kinds of decorations for rooms—useful, beautiful and presents. This was followed by some one else wishing that persons wouldn't mark the things they gave, so that they might be passed on. Then the tailor-made woman in gray spoke, relates the New York Tribune:

"You all know Mrs. Firstly. The Rev. Dr. Firstly's wife? She's a perfect dear, and as straightforward as a steel rail. She hates deceit and underhanded business, but not long ago I caught her in a little piece of double dealing that sent her stock up ten points in my estimation. You know she has the best taste in everything, and an embroidered piano cover gives her a headache, she says.
I went with her to the Simpkinses once—you are all familiar with their peculiar ideas on decoration—and she never spoke an intelligent word while we were there. Once outside, she clutched my arm. "Did you see that bunch of imitation yellow paper roses in the imitation cut glass bowl?" she gasped. Well, about two weeks after Christmas I dropped in on her one afternoon. She was receiving a call from Mrs. Dollardy and her eldest daughter, Mary. They belong to Dr. Firstly's church. Dol-lardy owns a boot and shoe factory of his own now, and is 'influential.' As I sat waiting and gazing around my eyes were struck dim to see hanging over one corner of that beautiful marine in the library a pink canvas bag embroidered with brown silk daisies and filled with milkweed pods. Mrs. Firstly caught my look and bit her lip. The Dol-lardy rose to go and she accompanied them to the front door. I heard it close with a bang, and almost simultaneously Mrs. Firstly rushed madly into the library, snatched the canvas thing off the picture and hurled it forcibly under the divan.

"There," she said, "thank heaven it's over! They gave it to me for a Christmas present, and I've been waiting for them to call for two weeks."

Blinding Foods.

Some foods, it is said, are very injurious to the sight. "A case was brought under the notice of an eye specialist," says the Dioptric Review, "in which the eyes of a whole family were affected by eating rabbit pie. In each instance the patient had become afflicted with a peculiar defect of vision that is technically known as 'failure of accommodation.' Stale sausages and sour cream cause a weakness of the sight known as 'amblyopia.' Blindness resulting from eating tainted fish has been found almost impossible to cure, and quinine is also responsible for some persons' half-blind condition. This drug affects the optic nerve in a manner that sometimes ends in blindness." We might add for our part that alcohol occasionally makes people "blind."— London Leader.

Looking for a Bargain.

"What!" exclaimed the woman who had just started a boarding house,
"twenty-five for those string beans?"
"Them ain't string beans," said the huckster; "them's butter beans, an'—"
"H'm—butter beans. Maybe you've got some oleomargarine beans that'd come cheaper."—Philadelphia Record.

A Natural Conclusion.

La Mont—I wonder what they are selling over there? I just heard them shouting, "Here's something to catch a man's eye!"

La Moyne—H'm! They must be selling ladies' umbrellas.—Philadelphia Record.

Notice.

To Policy Holders in Old Line Companies: Beware of the confidence game played by the pious Insurance Agent who wants to do you the favor of switching you from your company to his. All companies write numerous plans of insurance and every plan costs a different price. You get value received for any plan you buy, from any Old Line Company. When the confidence man shows you a plan differing from the one you have, which is part of the game, and should you prefer this particular plan write to the Agent or Company who insured you and get it, and thereby save what you paid. Don't be an easy mark. There are millions of dollars lost each year by policyholders being duped by confidence men.

WHAT we want in Paris just now is more cottages. There is a great demand for small homes among the laboring class.

A KANSAS vocal music teacher is named Whybark. A good many alleged singers can not give a reasonable excuse.

A BOSTON man was fined $20 in the police court for using an old United States flag as a waste bag in his business office.

THERE is to be a great deal of building to be done in this city in the Spring. We will soon have one of the prettiest cities in the state.

EDITOR W. P. WALTON, of the Lexington Democrat, has sold the Harrodsburg Democrat to C. M. Lewis, of the Shelbyville Sentinel.

THE Georgetown News says that the opinion of the usual voter would be that the Legislature has been "wined and dined" sufficiently.

NEVER in the history of Paris has the town been torn up in such a way as it now is. And while it is in this shape, why not make new brick streets?

THE Betsy Ross Memorial association has purchased for $23,150, the Philadelphia house in which the first American flag of the present design was made.

THE Flemingsburg Times-Democrat is authority for the statement that the skin of a black cat on your chest, worn with the fur next to the flesh, is a sure cure for asthma.

PENNSYLVANIA had more hangings last year than any other of the States in the Union, except Georgia and Arkansas. The Philadelphia Press says that it is an evidence that she not only catches the murderers, but punishes them for their crimes.

THE Board of Trade of Maysville is deserving of much praise, for the manner in which they are pushing the industries of that city. Paris, at one time had a Commercial Club, but for a lack of soothing syrup, it died in its infancy.

It is not true that "a rolling stone never gathers any moss." Miss Missionary Stone is having bales, stacks and ricks of it tendered by managers of American magazines and lecture lyceums. This is the saddest feature of the kidnapping case.—Times.

THE most incisive and most keenly analytical sketches of public men which have been prepared during the past two years have been those of William Allen White. The humorous little episode between Mr. White and Mr. Thomas C. Platt is still fresh in public memory. Mr. White's sketch for March appears in The Cosmopolitan and is on the late President Harrison. It will be read with wide interest by both the opponents and friends of that statesman.

If any Democrat, in order to make political capital against the Republicans or to secure the honor for some future Democratic Senate, has been tempted to urge the postponement of the passage of the resolution favoring the popular election of senators, let him remember that it is more important to secure a reform than to secure the glory of it for any particular party. The Democrats can afford to join the Republicans in passing any good measure. The election of senators by the people is too important a reform to be delayed for partisan purposes. Let the vote on the resolution be unanimous if possible. It is the stepping stone to other reforms.—Georgetown News.

You Do, or You Don't Need Glasses

The eye being a rather delicate organ, great care should be exercised in the selection of proper glasses. Many believe that glasses should be resorted to only when the sight becomes so defective as not to be able to do without. This is a great mistake which must be combated. Whenever there is unmistakable evidence of the need of their aid, they should be used. A neglect of this rule sometimes produces mischief which results in serious trouble if the course be persisted in.

Our Dr. C. H. BOWEN having just returned from taking a special course in Optics from one of the best specialists in New York, is prepared to do the best of work, having the latest improved methods of fitting. Examinations free. Next visit Wednesday, Mar. 12, 1902.

BOERS' HEAVY LOSS.

Six Hundred Killed and Captured and Many Cattle Taken.

Among the Prisoners Are Gen. DeWet's Son and His Secretary, Commandants Meyer and Truher—Field Cornets Taken.

London, March 1.—Following the precedent of Lord Roberts, who announced Gen. Cronje's surrender at Paardeburg on the anniversary of the battle of Majuba Hill (February 27, 1881), Lord Kitchener apparently selected the same anniversary to achieve a big success, by a combined movement lasting two days, against the Boer forces within the Harrismith and Van Renan line of blockhouses. The Boer losses aggregate 600 men killed or captured and 2,000 horses and 28,000 head of cattle fell into the hands of the British troops.

The news was so welcome to the British that it was read out in the house of commons by the war secretary, Mr. Broderick, from a dispatch of Lord Kitchener as follows:

"Harrismith, Feb. 28.—Yesterday the combined operations of the columns terminated in driving the Boers against the Harrismith and Van Renan blockhouse lines. The river Wilge was held by the Leicester regiment and Elliott's mounted infantry from Harrismith, while the columns formed on the Frankfort and Botha's Pass blockhouse line and advanced south, holding the entire country between the Wilge and the Natal frontier. On the first night a severe attempt to break through was made at a point between Remington's and Byng's columns and the New Zealanders behaved with great gallantry.

The fighting was a close quarters fight and the Boers, as usual, drove a large herd of cattle in front of them. Many Boers, the Boer leader, was killed and 35 dead Boers were found on the ground. Over 100 horses were killed and 6,000 head of cattle were left in our hands. Other small attempts to break out were made and in two cases succeeded. On the last day 450 Boers, with rifles and horses, were captured. All the columns have not yet reported and the operations have been very wide, but over 600 Boers have been either killed or are prisoners in our hands; also 2,000 horses, 28,000 head of cattle, 200 wagons, 60,000 sheep, 600 rifles and 50,000 rounds of ammunition. The prisoners include Gen. DeWet's son and his secretary; Commandants Meyer and Truher, and several field cornets. These satisfactory results are very appropriate on the anniversary of Majuba."

The war secretary, Mr. Broderick, replying to a question in the house of commons, said no details with the exception of the list of casualties, had been received of the recent capture of a British convoy of empty wagons near Klerksdorp. No men had been reported killed, but there were about 100 wounded.

THE TUNNEL DISASTER.

Engineer John M. Wisker Indicted For Manslaughter.

New York, March 1.—The grand jury concluded its investigation into the New York Central railway tunnel disaster of January 8, and found an indictment for manslaughter against John M. Wisker, the engineer of the White Plains local, which ran into the Norwalk local in the tunnel. A bench warrant was issued for Wisker's arrest. The grand jury dismissed the complaint charging that the tunnel as operated by the New York Central Railroad Co. constituted a public nuisance.

A STRANGE MALADY.

An Epidemic Prevails in Mattoon, Ill., Similar to "Pink Eye."

Mattoon, Ill., March 1.—This city is puzzled by an epidemic which, for want of a better name, oculists have called "pink eye," a disease commonly attributed to horses. Several weeks ago it originated in the public schools and has spread until there is now over 300 cases. The symptoms of the disease are the same as common sore eyes, only intensified. The ailment, though annoying, is not dangerous.

Man and Wife Charged With Murder.

Norman, Okla., March 1.—John A. Dean and his wife, Mary Dean, were arrested here charged with killing Henry Dean, February 21, by administering poison. Henry Dean was a wealthy farmer and had made a will leaving most of his property to Mary Dean, his niece.

Worst Flood in Its History.

Watkins, N. Y., March 1.—Montour Falls is suffering from the worst flood in its history, more than half of the village being under water. Bridges are gone and buildings washed from their foundations. Hundreds of families have been driven into the upper stories.

Streets Charged With Electricity.

Chicago, March 1.—Two streets charged with electricity from underground wires created a panic on the west side during the early hours of Friday morning and five horses were killed, several others receiving serious shocks.

Double Tragedy.

Leavenworth, Kan., March 1.—Frank Burlanek, a saloonkeeper, Friday shot Daisy Carpenter and then shot himself through the heart. The woman will die. Burlanek has a wife and three children at Crele, Neb.

AT HEADWATERS.

Pittsburg and Allegheny Threatened With a Disastrous Flood.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 1.—Pittsburg and vicinity is threatened with a disastrous flood. The great ice gorge in the Allegheny happily passed out Friday without doing any serious damage, but the great volume of water behind it, which is being augmented every moment by swollen creeks and mountain streams, make it apparent that much damage must result before the waters subside. At 10:30 p. m. Friday the rivers reached the danger point and were rising fast.

The residents of the down-town districts have been preparing for months for the flood which they thought inevitable. All have moved to second floors. The Lincoln and Boyer hotels and the Y. M. C. A. vacated the ground floors in anticipation of being flooded. The merchants along Penn avenue have installed steam siphons in order to keep cellars dry. The Fourth ward school will also be closed. Building operations along Penn avenue will be seriously interfered with. The exposition buildings were inundated Saturday morning. In Allegheny the P. & W. tracks are all under water, traffic being suspended. People living along the river are moving into second stories or going out in boats. The ball park is flooded and much damage is feared. As yet few coal flats have been swept away.

The reading on the indicator at the Sixth street bridge in the Allegheny river at 3 o'clock Saturday morning was 26 feet and 6 inches and rising about six inches an hour, while in the Monongahela river at the same hour the gauge showed 28 feet 6 inches with the same conditions.

Shortly before 3 o'clock the Allegheny river overflowed its banks along Duquesne way, between Fifth and Sixth streets and Sixth and Seventh streets, allowing the water to rush into cellars, rapidly filling them and causing much excitement in the immediate vicinity.

THE SOUTHERN STORMS.

Seven Lives Were Lost and Several Persons Injured.

Atlanta, Ga., March 1.—Not in many years have the southeastern gulf states experienced damage so widespread by a storm as that which on Thursday visited Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Florida. As far as known seven lives were lost and several persons injured. The damage is enormous, the railroads being particularly heavy sufferers. Four lives were lost in a wreck near Griffin, Ga., which was caused by a washout. The other dead were Negroes whose cabins were blown away by the storm. The rains raised the water to flood height in the Chattahoochee, Alabama, Ocmulgee, Savannah and the two Oconee rivers.

STOVERS DAM BURST.

A Large Portion of Lebanon, Pa., Is Under Water.

Reading, Pa., March 1.—Reports from Lebanon say: Stovers dam, near here, covering 30 acres, has burst. Lebanon is cut off by water on all sides, except the north. The electric light, iron works, street cars and Cornwall and Lebanon roads are flooded. Business in the flooded district is at a standstill. The First, Second, Third, Fourth and Fifth wards are flooded. Much damage has been done. The Sixth and Seventh wards have escaped. Small buildings along the creeks have been washed away, together with the foot bridges. Shallow creeks have swollen to an eight foot depth.

PHILADELPHIA FLOODED.

A Thunderstorm Accompanied By a Heavy Fall of Rain.

Philadelphia, March 1.—A thunderstorm, accompanied by an unusually heavy fall of rain, burst over this city. Every section of the city suffered from floods, although no great damage was done at any one place. The pressure of water was so great that sewers in several parts of the city became choked and overflowed. Hundreds of cellars of private houses and basements and stores and establishments were flooded to more or less extent. The steam railroads and the street railways were briefly interrupted while the water covered the tracks.

FLOOD AT JOHNSTOWN.

The Great Cambria Mills Flooded—Thousands of Men Are Idle.

Johnstown, Pa., March 1.—The high water is playing havoc here. The two rivers, the Little Conemaugh and the Stony Creek, which are in confluence at the great stone bridge here, are almost bankfull and are still rising. Business is practically suspended and thousands of people are watching events. The great Cambria mills are completely paralyzed and 15,000 men are idle.

Became Laws.

Washington, March 1.—The president has signed the bill for the relief of Jefferson college, in Tennessee, and also the bill for the relief of owners of property taken by the military forces of the United States during the civil war.

Overflow in the Potomac.

Baltimore, March 1.—The tracks of the B. & O. railroad are under water at several points between Martinsburg and Cumberland, caused by the overflow of the Potomac river. The officials say they are running no trains.

FLOOD AT WHEELING.

Hundreds of Families Are Occupying Their Upper Floors.

Three Boys Seriously Injured By a Partly Filled Can of Nitro-Glycerin Exploding—High Water at Other Points.

Wheeling, W. Va., March 3.—Wheeling is in the grasp of the worst flood it has experienced since that of 1884, with but one exception. The maximum stage was reached at 6 o'clock Sunday evening, 43 feet 3 inches, and the decline was expected to begin about midnight. In Wheeling, Bell-air, Benwood, Martin's Ferry and Bridgeport scores of factories have been entered by the raging waters, fires extinguished and 20,000 men placed on the list of involuntary idleness that will continue until Monday night or Tuesday morning.

Wheeling island was two-thirds covered by water Sunday night and fully 700 families are occupying the upper floors of their homes. South Wheeling and Benwood were hit fully as hard. Owing to the slow advance of the flood tide, however, the people were enabled to move their belongings and as a consequence the property loss is not as heavy as on former occasions.

Sunday afternoon North Wheeling boys built a fire on the river bank and in the debris used as fuel was, among other things, a partially filled can of nitro-glycerin, which exploded with a tremendous report. Three of the boys were seriously injured, but will recover. They are:

Harry Dean, Charles Lytle and Ray Herbert.

Another half-filled can of nitro-glycerin was kicked around in the gutter in front of the Hotel Windsor by boys until an oil man disclosed the character of the contents. There was a scattering of the population in all directions. The police were called and removed the can.

Parkersburg, W. Va., March 3.—The fact that side streams ran out rapidly instead of forming a dam to back up the water from above has kept this city from experiencing a disastrous flood. With the danger line at a 36 foot stage, Sunday night it was 30.4 and rising 4 inches an hour. Forty feet was predicted for Monday, but the water will hardly reach that point. Fifty or more houses are flooded and many cellars are full. By Monday the inundated houses will be double this number. Parkersburg is thankful, after the indications above, to have escaped so fortunately, for much greater damage was anticipated.

Huntington, W. Va., March 3.—The Ohio river is 49.7 feet and rising very slowly, not over an inch an hour. In numbers of adjacent towns many are seeking higher quarters, but the danger line has hardly been reached here. Snow and rain has prevailed since noon. The Big Sandy is still rising at White House, and at Guyan and Twelve Pole it is practically stationary.

East Liverpool, O., March 3.—The high water has flooded the city pumping station to a depth of six feet and the city water supply is cut off. All manufacturing plants will have to suspend till the flood abates.

A FIGHT WITH BURGLARS.

The Chief of Police and Two of the Robbers Were Wounded.

Mattoon, Ill., March 3.—In a fight between burglars and officers here early Sunday morning Chief of Police Lyons received wounds that may cause the loss of an arm by amputation and two or three youths whom the police were attempting to capture were wounded, one of them probably fatally. The police, having learned that an attempt would be made to rob a store, stationed several men in the building, and when the three youths entered through a rear window the police attempted to capture them. In the fight that followed Chief Lyons' arm was shattered, Sid Snapp, 17 years of age, was fatally wounded, and one of two brothers named Heath also was shot. The Heaths escaped and are still at large. The parents of the Heaths and young Snapp reside here.

RECORD STAMP YEAR.

The Present One Will Be Memorable for the Many New Issues in Several Nations.

The year 1902 will be a memorable one to philatelists, and will beat all previous records. They have already started with the new Edward VII. stamps. A few months will see the new Spanish postal issue, which will be printed after the coronation of Alfonso XIII., in May. America is printing fresh stamps in honor of Mr. Roosevelt, and Germany announces an important new stamp for the coming spring. Switzerland is planning a stamp. Russia will celebrate the second centenary of the building of St. Petersburg by a fresh issue. Finally it is hoped by all ardent philatelists that a limited number of new stamps will be printed this year in honor of the coronation, says the London News. A collector protests against the statement that the philatelists "hope for" a limited number of stamps printed in honor of the coronation. Special and unnecessary issues are, he says, detested by the serious collector, a fact which raises our opinion of the fraternity considerably. He says: "It is one of the charms of specializing in the stamps of Great Britain that this country has been kept singularly free from limited issues, which are supposed to possess a fictitious value."

Names of Congresses.

A congress is officially known by its number; the present is the Fifty-seventh. It is becoming a common practice to designate them as the "first Crisp," the "third Reed," or the "second Henderson," which would be the every-day designation of this one. Occasionally a congress is nicknamed for some distinguishing accomplishment, or for some fault alleged against it by the opposition, as the "billion dollar congress" of 12 years ago. The practice of nicknaming a legislative body has many examples in English parliamentary history. The list includes the "Lack-Learning" parliament, the "Long," which became the "Rump," and was followed by "Barebones'" parliament among others.

Mrs. L. A. Harris, a Prominent Member of a Chicago Woman's Political Club, tells how Ovarian Troubles may be Cured without a Surgical Operation. She says:

"Doctors have a perfect craze for operations. The minute there is any trouble, nothing but an operation will do them; one hundred dollars and costs, and included in the costs are pain, and agony, and often death.

"I suffered for eight years with ovarian troubles; spent hundreds of dollars for relief, until two doctors agreed that an operation was my only chance of life. My sister had been using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for her troubles, and been cured, and she strongly urged me to let the doctors go and try the Compound. I did so as a last resort; used it faithfully with the Sana-tive Wash for five months, and was rejoiced to find that my troubles were over and my health restored. If women would only try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound first, fewer surgical operations would occur."—Mrs. L. A. Harris, 278 East 31st St., Chicago, Ill.

WOMAN'S GENTLE NATURE CALLS FOR GENTLE TREATMENT

Delicately formed and gently reared, women will find, in all the seasons of their lives, as maids or wives or mothers, that the one simple, wholesome remedy which acts gently and pleasantly and naturally, and which may be used with truly beneficial effects, under any conditions, when the system needs a laxative—is—Syrup of Figs. It is well known to be a simple combination of the laxative and carminative principles of plants with pleasant, aromatic liquids, which are agreeable and refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system when its gentle cleansing is desired.

Many of the ills from which women suffer are of a transient nature and do not come from any organic trouble and it is pleasant to know that they yield so promptly to the beneficial effects of Syrup of Figs, but when anything more than a laxative is needed it is best to consult the family physician and to avoid the old-time cathartics and loudly advertised nostrums of the present day. When one needs only to remove the strain, the torpor, the congestion, or similar ills, which attend upon a constipated condition of the system, use the true and gentle remedy—Syrup of Figs—and enjoy freedom from the depression, the aches and pains, colds and headaches, which are due to inactivity of the bowels.

Only those who buy the genuine Syrup of Figs can hope to get its beneficial effects and as a guarantee of the excellence of the remedy the full name of the company—California Fig Syrup Co.—is printed on the front of every package and without it any preparation offered as Syrup of Figs is fraudulent and should be declined. To those who know the quality of this excellent laxative, the offer of any substitute, when Syrup of Figs is called for, is always resented by a transfer of patronage to some first-class drug establishment, where they do not recommend, nor sell false brands, nor imitation remedies. The genuine article may be bought of all reliable druggists everywhere at 50 cents per bottle.

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.

THE PRINCE'S TOUR.

His Receptions in the Southern Cities Were Hospitable and Demonstrative.

ROYAL VISITOR APPRECIATED IT.

He Was Escorted to the Top of Lookout Mountain Where He Viewed the Famous Battlefield.

The Prince and Party Were Warmly Greeted at Chattanooga, Nashville, Louisville, Indianapolis and Stations Along Route.

Washington, Feb. 28.—Prince Henry of Prussia journeyed to Mount Vernon Thursday afternoon and placed two wreaths in the tomb of Washington. He approached the grave of the first president with bared head, and that there might be nothing irreverent in the ceremony asked the holders of a dozen cameras to refrain from photographing him. The royal visitor and his party were taken to Mount Vernon by special train over the Washington, Arlington & Mount Vernon electric railway. The prince, at the conclusion of the McKinley memorial service at the capitol, drove directly to the special train.

Prince Henry walked to the Washington home and was driven from there down over the slope of the hill to the tomb. When the iron gate of the tomb was opened he removed his cap and entered. Two large wreaths made at Washington by his order already had been sent to the tomb, and taking them up he formally set them in place. A group of over a hundred men stood in the approach to the grave uncovered, and that with their silence added to the spirit of solemnity. Fifty feet down the sward that falls away from the tomb Prince Henry planted a linden tree. The tree had been set in place prior to his arrival, and taking a spade the prince filled the earth in around its roots.

The prince was taken to the old Washington house by Superintendent H. H. Dodge, and there met a delegation of the Mount Vernon Ladies' association, headed by Mrs. Justine Van Rensselaer Townsend, of New York. He spent a few minutes in looking at the Washington relics and then departed for Washington.

Prince Henry, accompanied by Ambassador Von Holleben, dined at the white house Thursday night with President and Mrs. Roosevelt. The dinner was entirely unostentatious and of a personal family character.

Annapolis, Md., March 1.—Deluding rain that was whipped around by gusty winds marred the visit of Prince Henry to Maryland's capital, and the United States naval academy. It fell in unceasing torrents that ran through the streets in miniature rivers and converted the parade ground at the academy into a bay. But the naval men and their brother officers of the German party scorned surrender to the storm and with all their military finery went through the programme that had been arranged in their honor.

Washington, March 1.—Prince Henry enjoyed one event not on his official itinerary when he and President Roosevelt went in a rainstorm on a horseback ride of an hour and a quarter through Rock Creek valley and the suburbs in the northwestern section of the city. The ride was arranged personally between the two men during one of their talks at an official function. The prince returned from Annapolis between 3 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon and went direct to the white house to pay his farewell visit.

A splendid official dinner was given at the German embassy in the evening, and later a tremendous outburst of popular enthusiasm from the German residents of Washington, as the imperial visitor was about to start for his southern and western tour. The dinner was given at the embassy at 8 o'clock, his royal highness being the guest of honor while those invited to meet him were representative of the highest official and diplomatic society.

The following programme of music was rendered by the orchestra during the evening: "The Invincible Eagle," Sousa; overture, "Martha," a selection from Faust; Idyll, "Evening Breeze," Langley; caprice, "Heart's Message," Santleman; selection from Lohengrin; waltz, "On the Beautiful Rhine"; Floradora march, "Hands Across the Sea." At 11 o'clock the prince, escorted by Ambassador Von Holleben and a squad of police, left the embassy for the Pennsylvania railroad station.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 2.—Prince Henry of Prussia went up Lookout mountain Sunday and after viewing the ground where the union and confederate armies met in conflict and hearing a fresh story of the battles, resumed his journey to the north and west. Leaving Chattanooga his train ran through a corner of Alabama and then turning to the north hurried across Tennessee with a short stop at Nashville, through Kentucky with brief stays at Louisville and Bowling Green, and up into Indiana to another brief halt at Indianapolis. At Indianapolis the course was changed to the westward again and on the tracks of the Vandalia line his train Sunday night left for St. Louis. His reception at the south was hospitable and demonstrative. The Negroes manifested great curiosity as to the prince, and they interested and amused him.

He got an opportunity to hear them sing at Nashville and was greatly pleased at the experience. It was the glee club of Fiske university that sang and at the close he asked the young woman who led them to come into his car. He shook her hand and congratulated her.

There was a great crowd at Chattanooga and the people greeted the prince with a handsome souvenir of his visit. Nashville also made a demonstration of friendliness, as did Louisville and Indianapolis. At every station along the route the people gathered to salute him with cheers. There was much enthusiasm over Adm. Evans as well, and at several points after they had seen and cheered the prince the people called for the admiral.

Brief though it was, Prince Henry was delighted with his southern tour, and as he was leaving Nashville said:

"The people have been very kind to me. Everywhere they have received me in the kindest manner and I very deeply appreciate it. I wish they might all know how thankful I am."

Guided by a pilot engine the royal special made a rapid run from Cincinnati to Chattanooga. Tired from his exertions of the day the prince retired after leaving Cincinnati, but his slumbers were disturbed by the clamorous calls made for him at some of the Kentucky towns.

It was 8 o'clock when the special pulled into the depot at Chattanooga, and the local reception committee, headed by Newell Sanders and accompanied by Pension Commissioner H. Clay Evans and Gen. H. V. Boynton, came forward to formally greet the prince. There was a great throng in and about the depot and it broke into hearty cheers when the prince appeared at the rear of the car Columbia. He wore the uniform of admiral and saluted when he faced the crowd.

He and his party were taken by special electric train to the inclined railway that climbs the rugged face of Lookout mountain. They made the ascent in two cars, the prince escorted by Gen. Boynton and Commissioner Evans.

As the prince reached the crest of the mountain the sun broke through the grayish clouds and for a short time the view was excellent. Missionary Ridge, Orchard Knob and Raccoon mountain were outlined clear and bold and below the Tennessee river could be traced in its meanderings for miles. Gen. Boynton, who participated in the Chattanooga operations with Sherman's army, accompanied the prince down along the ridge of the mountain and briefly related the story of the campaign.

Lieut. Commander Von Egidy noted down figures as to the number of men engaged, the losses on either side and other information as to the battles and campaign. As he stood at Rock Point and looked across the valleys of the Tennessee he exclaimed: "This is magnificent. There is nothing in all Europe more finer. I have never seen such a battlefield."

Prince Henry reached Louisville at 7:45 Sunday night, heard an address of welcome, received an album and an engrossed address, met several citizens, acknowledged with repeated salutes the cheers of several thousand persons, and at 8 o'clock left for Indianapolis.

Fully 15,000 people greeted the Prince Henry special which arrived here at 11:05 o'clock. The run from Louisville was made without special incident. The prince dined at 8 o'clock and his guests were Adm. Evans, Col. Bingham, George W. Boyd, Carl Polier, German consul at Cincinnati, and Lieut. Commander Von Egidy. The special left for St. Louis at 11:20.

STORM IN NEW YORK CITY.

Rain Fell in Torrents and a Severe Gale Prevailed.

New York, March 1.—The storm which raged over the entire eastern half of the United States gave a generous share of its attention to New York city. During the afternoon for a short time the rain fell in torrents and the wind blew a gale at the rate of 68 miles an hour. The storm made the waters on the bay very rough and interfered with shipping considerably.

The cruiser San Francisco weighed anchor at noon under sealed orders for sea, but when she reached a point off Swinburne island her captain changed her course and returned to the anchorage grounds off Tompkinsville, on account of the storm. The Cincinnati and Olympia were prepared to get under way should their anchors fail to hold fast. From New Jersey points reports of flood and damage are coming in.

SHIPWRECKED SAILORS.

Rescued After Being Lashed to the Deck House For Three Days.

Palm Beach, Fla., March 3.—A party of shipwrecked sailors were landed at Palm Beach Sunday afternoon from the steamer El Cid, Capt. Baker, which picked them up Saturday morning about 200 miles east of Savannah. They were: Capt. A. Brown, First Mate Sherman Martin and a crew of eight, of the schooner B. R. Woodside, bound from Fernandino to St. John, P. R., with a cargo of lumber. Last Wednesday a heavy gale from the northeast sprang up. The schooner was blown out of her course and labored in the heavy seas until a leak set in and becoming water logged. The officers and the crew finally lashed themselves to the after deck house and remained there with many seas breaking over them for three days, when their signals were seen by the El Cid. The schooner was going to pieces when the men were taken off. One has a broken leg, but the others already have recovered from their terrible experience.

IN THE BACK WATERS.

Capt. Chas. A. Allen and His Brother Drowned at Montgomery.

Montgomery, Ala., March 3.—Capt. Charles A. Allen and his brother, Thomas Allen, of this city, were drowned in the back waters of the Alabama river Sunday afternoon. The young men were driving along a high embankment with back water about 50 feet deep on each side. A heavy breaker from the three-mile wide river dashed against the embankment and frightened their horse, which reared up and fell backward on the buggy, pushing it and its occupants into the deep water. Both were drowned. Capt. Allen was one of the best known men in the state. He was formerly chief clerk in the adjutant general's office and was state ordnance officer for a number of years. At the time of his death he was captain of the Montgomery Blues, one of the oldest military organizations in the United States. Both bodies were recovered.

FLOOD FOLLOWS FIRE.

Many Houses in Paterson, N. J., and Vicinity Are Inundated.

Paterson, N. J., March 3.—This city, so recently swept by fire, is now overwhelmed by flood. Three weeks ago the greater part of its business section was burned out, and now the quarter occupied by the houses of the poorer class is inundated. Hundreds of families have been made homeless by the overflow of the Passaic river and the country for miles around the city is under water.

So far but one death has been reported. The great peril now is that the Spruce street race way may overflow, in which event a great loss of property in the manufacturing districts is sure to ensue. The race way supplies water power for most of the mills along the water front.

THE NORTH CAROLINA STORM.

It Is Reported That Seven Persons Lost Their Lives.

Asheville, N. C., March 3.—Telephone and telegraph communication was restored Sunday for the first time since Thursday with the towns along the Southern railway, which were cut off by the recent heavy rains. AN UNUSUAL TRIAL.

Dr. Orvill S. Burnett Found Guilty of the Murder of Mrs. Nichol.

Chicago, March 3.—The jury in the case of Dr. Orvill S. Burnett, who has been on trial charged with the murder of Mrs. Charlotte S. Nichol, of Nashville, Tenn., returned a verdict of guilty and recommended that Burnett be sent to the penitentiary for 15 years. Burnett's attorneys will ask for a new trial Monday. The verdict was a surprise, as Judge Baker's instructions to the jury were considered favorable to the defendant.

The case was one of the most unusual that has ever been tried in the Cook county criminal courts. Burnett, who is a young dentist, was charged with being accessory before and after the fact to the death of Mrs. Nichol, even though it was admitted by the prosecution that Mrs. Nichol had committed suicide. The state endeavored to establish the point that Burnett and Mrs. Nichol agreed to commit suicide together and that the man weakened, allowing the woman to go to her death alone. The defense disputed that there had been any agreement between the two to end their lives together and asserted that Mrs. Nichol had taken her own life while Burnett was lying intoxicated at her side.

A TERRIFIC EXPLOSION.

Three Persons Believed to Have Perished—Half a Dozen Injured.

Reading, Pa., March 3.—A terrific explosion occurred Sunday night in the four-story music store of C. H. Lichty. The building at once completely collapsed. This was followed by the three-story brick umbrella factory adjoining of Mrs. Mary Boland. Both buildings and contents were destroyed. A number of persons were in the buildings, but they are all accounted for except Mrs. Boland and a friend who called to spend Sunday evening, and the watchman in the Lichty building. It is believed these three persons perished. The explosion is said to have been due to a gas which was manufactured by a local company, of which Mr. Lichty was president. The total loss is $250,000. Many neighboring buildings were damaged. Half a dozen people were seriously injured and neighboring business buildings were badly damaged.

IN CENTRAL ARABIA.

Abdul Aziz Ben Feysul entered the city by stratagem at night with 50 followers. These men rode to the palace and killed the governor of E'riad and 30 of his retainers. The garrison of the city then surrendered, whereupon the army of Abdul Aziz Ben Feysul entered.

What He Left.

In a little New England village lived a lawyer famous for drawing wills, in which branch of the business he had long enjoyed a monopoly of the business of the county.

On the death of a certain respected citizen there was much speculation as to the value of the property, and the village gossip undertook to find out the facts. He hunted up the lawyer and said, rather bluntly:

"I suppose you made Blank's will?"

"Yes."

"Then you probably know how much he left. Would you mind telling me?"

"Not at all," answered the lawyer, deliberately. "He left everything he had."

Ice Will Stay Up.

Housekeeper—Ice will be very cheap next summer, won't it?

Ice Man—Well, I don't know, mum. You see, we've got a good deal of dear ice left over from the year before, and we'll have to sell that first, because it might spoil, you know, and I'm afraid by the time the old stock is gone the cheap ice will all be melted.—N. Y. Weekly.

Lost and Found.

"It was so slippery coming down here to-night that I lost my feet several times," remarked the awkward dancer to his fair companion, as they were enjoying the dreamy mazes of the waltz.

"Well, I notice you've found them again, all right," said the fair one, as she stopped dancing and limped over to a chair.—Yonkers Statesman.

Natural Mirrors.

The Lawyer—You say that you were walking behind this woman, could not distinguish her figure because of the cape she wore, saw nothing of her face, and yet knew that she was a very pretty woman. How do you account for that?

The Witness—Well, I could see the faces of the men coming towards me.—Life.

Death with a Sting.

Friend—It is too bad that you have to die before you can get even with your cousin who cheated you out of your patrimony.

Consumptive—Never mind. I'll be revenged. I shall die before the winter is over.

"Custom will require him to attend my funeral and stand by the grave with his hat off. That'll kill him."—N. Y. Weekly.

His Life Not a Failure.

"It very seldom happens," said Hamlet Horatio Jones, "that we are permitted to adopt the career for which we are abitious in youth. I always wanted to be a comedian instead of a tragedian, and make people laugh."

"Dear me," said the sympathetic young girl, "you ought not to be so disappointed. I am sure you make people laugh very often as it is."—Tit-Bits.

The Limit.

"I can stand the health food craze," said the wife, wearily; "I have eaten prepared cereals and health biscuits and taken imitation coffee without a murmur, but James has a phase of it just now which is dreadfully trying."

"And that is—"

"His doctor told him he ought not to smoke and he has taken to sweet fern cigarettes."—Washington Times.

Suffering Ears.

"Your shell-like ears, have they been pierced?"

"I ask it with kind intent."

"No; only bored," the maid replied. I wonder what she meant.—Puck.

HEROIC MEASURES.

"Goodness gracious, Tommy, why do you make such a terrible din?"

"Keeping the baby quiet."

"Why, under the tin."—Brooklyn Eagle.

Such Impudence!

"Young man," said the stern father, "do you think you are able to support a family?"

"Well," said the young man, bravely, "I have thought that all over, and I have come to the conclusion that I am willing to endure Lillian's family for the sake of Lillian herself."—Somer-ville Journal.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury.

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is tenfold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Women and Jewels.

Jewels, candy, flowers, man—that is the order of a woman's preferences. Jewels form a magnet of mighty power to the average woman. Even that greatest of all jewels, health, is often ruined in the strenuous efforts to make or save the money to purchase them. If a woman will risk her health to get a coveted gem, then let her fortify herself against the insidious consequences of coughs, colds and bronchial affections by the regular use of Dr. Broome's German Syrup. It will promptly arrest consumption in its early stages and heal the affected lungs and bronchial tubes and drive the dread disease from the system. It is not a cure all but it is a certain cure for coughs, colds and all bronchial troubles. You can get Dr. G. G. Green's reliable remedies at W. T. Brooks'. Get Green's Special Almanac.

Repairing Neatly Done

Never thought of such a sign for a medicine did you? Well, it's a good sign for Scott's Emulsion. The body has to be repaired like other things and Scott's Emulsion is the medicine that does it.

These poor bodies wear out from worry, from over-work, from disease. They get thin and weak. Some of the new ones are not well made—and all of the old ones are racked from long usage.

Scott's Emulsion fixes all kinds. It does the work both inside and out. It makes soft bones hard, thin blood red, weak lungs strong, hollow places full. Only the best materials are used in the patching and the patches don't show through the new glow of health.

No one has to wait his turn. You can do it yourself—and the bottle.

This picture represents the Trade Mark of Scott's Emulsion and is on the wrapper of every bottle.

Brain Food Nonsense.

Another ridiculous food fad has been branded by the most competent authorities. They have dispelled the silly notion that one kind of food is needed for brain, another for muscles, and still another for bones. A correct diet will not only nourish a particular part of the body, but it will sustain every other part. Yet however good your food may be, its nutriment is destroyed by indigestion or dyspepsia. You must prepare for their appearance or prevent their coming by taking regular doses of Green's August Flower, the favorite medicine of the healthy millions. A few doses aids digestion, stimulates the liver to healthy action, purifies the blood, and makes you feel buoyant and vigorous. You can get Dr. G. G. Green's reliable remedies at W. T. Brooks'. A WORTHY SUCCESSOR.

"Something New Under The Sun."

All doctors have tried to cure CATARRH by the use of powders, acid gases, inhalers and drugs in paste form. Their powders dry up the mucous membranes causing them to crack open and bleed. The powerful acids used in the inhalers have entirely eaten away the same membranes that their makers have aimed to cure, while pastes and ointments cannot reach the disease. An old and experienced practitioner who has for many years made a case study and specialty of the treatment of CATARRH, has at last perfected a Treatment which when faithfully used, not only relieves at once, but permanently cures CATARRH by removing the cause, stopping the discharges, and curing all inflammation. It is the only remedy known to science that actually reaches the afflicted parts. This wonderful remedy is known as "SNUFFLES" the GUARANTEED CATARRH CURE and is sold at the extremely low price of One Dollar, each package containing internal and external medicine sufficient for a full month's treatment and everything necessary to its perfect use.

MALARIA An Invisible Enemy to Health

Means bad air, and whether it comes from the low lands and marshes of the country, or the filthy sewers and drain pipes of the cities and towns, its effect upon the human system is the same.

These atmospheric poisons are breathed into the lungs and taken up by the blood, and the foundation of some long, debilitating illness is laid. Chills and fever, chronic dyspepsia, torpid and enlarged liver, kidney troubles, jaundice and biliousness are frequently due to that invisible foe, Malaria. Noxious gases and unhealthy matter collect in the system because the liver and kidneys fail to act, and are poured into the blood current until it becomes so polluted and sluggish that the poisons literally break through the skin, and carbuncles, boils, abscesses, ulcers and various eruptions of an indolent character appear, depleting the system, and threatening life itself. The germs and poisons that so oppress and weaken the body and destroy the life-giving properties of the blood, rendering it thin and watery, must be overcome and carried out of the system before the patient can hope to get rid of Malaria and its effects.

S. S. S. does this and quickly produces an entire change in the blood, reaching every organ and stimulating them to vigorous, healthy action. S. S. S. possesses not only purifying but tonic properties, and the general health improves, and the appetite increases almost from the first dose. There is no Mercury, Potash, Arsenic or other mineral in S. S. S. It is strictly and entirely a vegetable remedy. Write us about your case, and our physicians will gladly help you by their advice to regain your health. Book on blood and skin diseases sent free.

HEAD NOISES CEASE IMMEDIATELY.

F. A. WERMAN, OF BALTIMORE, SAYS:

Gentlemen:—Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment, I will now give you full history of my case, to be used at your discretion. About five years ago my right ear began to ring, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely. I underwent a treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the most eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that only an operation could help me, and even that only temporarily, that the head noises would then cease, but the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever. I then saw your advertisement, accidentally in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days according to your directions, the noises ceased, and today, after five weeks, my hearing in the diseased ear has been entirely restored. I thank you heartily and beg to remain Very truly yours,
